CONSIDERATION OF PEACE PLAN HALTS FURTHER SANCTIONS

Those Already Applied Against Italy Remaining Rigidly in Force—Mussolini Represented as Satisfied With Main Outlines of Proposal To End Italy's Conflict With Ethiopia

GENEVA, Dec. 12 (P).—Action on League sanctions on oil, coal, iron and steel stands adjourned tonight to permit members of the council to consider the Franco-British plan for ending war in East Africa.

The Council itself will be summoned in special session on Wednesday next to decide whether, in view of the Italian and Ethiopian replies to the peace proposals, the policy of imposing economic sanctions should be continued or dropped, or, if necessary, extended.

In the meantime, financial and economic sanctions now applied against Italy remain rigidly in force.

AN EXCITING DAY

Briefly, such was the upshot of an exciting day at Geneva. It was a day of hotel diplomacy, with only a short private meeting of the sanctions committee of eighteen to reveal the activities being carried on within the League framework.

In hectic developments since the announcement of the Franco-British peace plan, the smaller nations of the League have been loud in their

Province, With Twelve Boards, Awaits Move at Federal Capital

Intimation from Federal Government at Ottawa that existing marketing schemes will not be extended nor new ones added, pending court test of the underlying legislation, leaves British Columbia with twelve established or applied-for market control boards and no little uncertainty.

While Provincial comment was reserved yesterday, there is concern here as to the whole future of market legislation, in which this province was the first to participate.

SEVERAL SCHEMES OPERATING

Market control schemes with Federal and Provincial powers, or either of them, now operating, include the British Columbia Tree Fruits Board, the Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board, the British Columbia Coast Vegetable Board, the British Columbia Hothouse Tomato and Cucumber Board, and two fish boards, including halibut and salt fish.

Numerous other schemes, including sheep and beef cattle, were attempted, and some got as far as Federal or Provincial ratification, without, however, completing the process.

While nothing in the present stay will affect the right of these boards to continue functioning, uncertainty in regard to the legislation itself will automatically bring about cessation of new activities until the issue be cleared up.

Meanwhile, several paid executives in charge of the various schemes, are keeping in touch with Federal and Provincial sources, in an effort to determine just what are the intentions of the two Administrations in regard to the future of market control legislation.

B.C. Member Draws His Own Teeth

PRINCE RUPERT, Dec. 12 (P).—Olof Hanson, member of Parliament for Skeena, can "take it" and Ed Kenney, Provincial member, can "dish it out," according to C. H. Sawie, of The Okanagan Herald.

"While visiting Terrace, B.C. recently," Sawie said, "Hanson went into Kenney's hardware store and asked if he could borrow a pair of long pointed pliers and a mirror.

"When the implements were produced, Hanson explained: 'I've had a bad tooth. Didn't sleep last night. Just went to the doctor but he's out, so here's where I draw that tooth myself and do him out of a couple of bucks.'"

Mr. Hanson made a good job of it, Sawie added.

Leader of Wafd to Become Virtual Political Dictator—Great Britain Retains Control of Foreign Policy and Provides Defences

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 12 (P).—Thousands of red-fezzed Egyptian students, who for the past month have defied intermittent violent anti-British demonstrations, paraded Cairo's streets unmolested tonight, hysterically celebrating the return of home rule.

King Fuad signed a royal decree today restoring constitutional government to this country and observers believed that he thereby brought to a close hostilities which have cost at least eight lives and injured hundreds.

Egypt will shortly elect a few hundred lawmakers for a parliamentary government. The change will make a virtual political dictator

Four Powers Join To Firmly Reject Demand of Japan

Deadlock Appears Unavoidable in Naval Conference in London—Some Hope of Effecting Compromise Prevails—Japanese Expected To Give Further Details of Desires

LONDON, Dec. 12 (P).—Four powers and three Dominions joined today in firm rejection of Japan's naval conference demand for equality on the seas with Great Britain and the United States. The United States, France, Italy, Canada, South Africa and Australia joined in the refusal voicing various reasons reflecting national interests.

Thus the conference, designed to lay a basis for replacing the expiring London and Washington limitation treaties, apparently headed for a deadlock, although some hope prevailed in all delegations that a compromise may yet be possible.

MUST BE IN TREATY
British determination to resist the Japanese demand was linked in responsible quarters with the British viewpoint that no treaty can be arranged on a basis of any understanding or commitment outside the document itself.

The same viewpoint, it was understood, was held by the other delegations. It seemed to dispose of past suggestions that the Japanese might be satisfied with equality only on paper, with an understanding that they would not build up to the authorized limits.

Norman H. Davis plainly told the Japanese that the United States wants to continue the 5-5-3 equilibrium established by the Washington

IS NOT ACTING AGAINST JAPAN

Great Britain Has No Intention of Interceding in North China Dispute

LONDON, Dec. 12 (CP-Havas).—Great Britain intends to take no action against Japanese military activity in North China, Prime Minister Baldwin said in the House of Commons today. His statement was in reply to a question by Captain Peter Macdonald, Conservative, representing the Isle of Wight.

Macdonald is a native of Nova Scotia. Mr. Baldwin said that Japan's recent reinforcements of garrisons at Tientsin was legal, citing the Boxer protocol of 1901 authorizing Japan's maintenance of armed forces south of the Great Wall.

NINE-POWER TREATY
Questioned by another member regarding the relevance of the nine-power treaty guaranteeing the territorial integrity of China, the Prime Minister replied: "The facts of the situation are too obscure to make it possible to say whether or how far the nine-power treaty is relevant to it."

China recently protested to the British Government that Japanese pressure for autonomy in North China was in violation of the treaty.

Satisfied with an express undertaking by the Victoria and Saanich beaches and parks committee that the subsequent boulevards will be adequately maintained, the Provincial Government ordered an immediate start yesterday on the boulevarding of Benvenuto Avenue as an ornamental approach to Butchart's Gardens.

COMPLETION OF ROAD PROPOSED

Committee of Premiers' Conference Favors Pushing Work on Highway

OTTAWA, Dec. 12 (P).—The Dominion-Provincial conference committee on tourist traffic, it was learned today, has accepted the suggestion of its committee that the trans-Canada Highway be completed. The Dominion will bear 50 per cent of the cost and each province will bear 50 per cent of the cost within its borders. It is expected the highway will be completed in two years.

A similar arrangement was proposed in connection with roads which might be considered feeder roads to the highway. If a province designated a road as one whose improvement would be to the general advantage of Canada and the Dominion sanctioned it, each would pay half the cost. This was believed possible of extensive development. In the improvement of roads which would bring tourists to Canada, particularly along scenic routes.

QUESNEL TRADE GOOD

Silver Statement Sends Markets Into Renewed Confusion

Secretary Morgenthau Says United States Treasury Purchasing White Metal Steadily, but In Scattered Trading Centres

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12 (P).—Announcement by Secretary Morgenthau that the United States Treasury was still buying silver, but, contrary to precedent, was making its purchases in scattered trading centres, today threw the silver market into renewed confusion.

While brokers sought to gauge the Government's intentions, the price dropped again in London and New York, but, to the surprise of some, rose in Montreal, at present North America's principal unrestricted market for the metal.

Following this general trend, mining shares and some industrial issues declined in price, while the whole stock market list dipped and

JEWS FACE NEW RESTRICTIONS

German Government Plans To Prohibit Jewish Ownership of Land

(Copyright, 1935, by HAVAS News Agency)
BERLIN, Dec. 12 (P).—German Jewish businessmen and industrialists face new restrictions in measures which will be considered tomorrow by Chancellor Hitler and his Cabinet, holding its last meeting for this year.

The new measures would circumscribe the economic status of Jews in Germany as the laws decreed upon at the Nuremberg Nazi Congress circumscribed their civil position.

Among the measures to be considered are the following:

- 1. An order that Jewish stores prominently show a Hebrew inscription or a Star of David.
- 2. A ban on Jewish stockholding in German firms.
- 3. An order that no Jew may own land in Germany, or buildings constructed on German land.
- 4. A law forbidding Jews to reside in towns having a population of less than 20,000.

CLAIMS POLICE ROBBED STORES

Toronto Inquiry Told That Twenty-Five Officers Involved in Many Thefts

TORONTO, Dec. 12 (P).—A band of twenty-five police constables known as the "100 Per Cent" gang, have been systematically robbing Toronto stores and factories, former Constable William J. Watt declared today before the Police Commission inquiry into conduct of Police Constable Michael O'Shea and circumstances of his reinstatement in the force.

Watt, who served a reformatory term for entering a downtown shop, said that to his knowledge the thefts had been going on since 1910, a period of twenty-five years. He directly involved O'Shea, saying he had seen him coming out of shops with bundles.

WILL BE CHARGED WITH KIDNAPPING

Suspects in Labatt Case Waive Extradition and Are Being Taken To London

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 12 (P).—Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton announced tonight that Russell Knowles and Herman Kierdorf, arrested at Ottawa, Ill., for the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, have waived extradition and are on their way from Chicago to London under police escort. They will reach here early tomorrow morning.

Knowles and Kierdorf will both be charged with kidnapping and armed robbery of the wealthy London brewer in August, 1934. Police will try to prove that Knowles was one of the actual abductors and that Kierdorf advanced money for the carrying out of the crime.

CHARGE IS DISMISSED

VANCOUVER, Dec. 12 (P).—Two Chinese cafe operators, charged with failing to obey a police order prohibiting them from employing white women in their cafes, were dismissed on a technicality by Police Magistrate H. S. Wood today.

WARNS AGAINST CREDIT DAMAGE

London Paper Says Abuses By Provinces Endangering Federal Structure

LONDON, Dec. 13 (P).—The Financial News, in an editorial today, commented upon financial moves taking place in Ontario and in Alberta.

"If there were less than the credit of the Dominion at stake, the city (London's financial district) would be able to watch the convulsions of Mr. Abernethy (William Abernethy, Premier of Alberta) and Mr. Hepburn (Mitchell F. Hepburn, Premier of Ontario) with more proper detachment," The Financial News said.

CAN PLEAD POVERTY

"The Premier of Alberta, in support of his arbitrary action and justification of his failure to make good election promises, can at least plead poverty. He can maintain that no party in the last few years has been able to make Alberta pay."

"But for Mr. Hepburn there is no such excuse. The reason for his latest decision definitely and finally to cancel the power contracts with four Quebec companies is apparent only to himself."

CANNOT BE ALLOWED

"If Canada is to remain creditworthy, these abuses cannot be allowed. Prime Minister Mackenzie King failed to make the question of provincial debt one of the issues of the election, but the problem does lie at the bottom of Canada's difficulties."

The Financial News, however, went on to say "The Dominion's credit has not yet, and is unlikely to be called into question, although the repercussions of provincial defaults can hardly fail to affect it in the long run."

Stenographers, seamstresses, sales girls and domestic helpers; general laborers, carpenters, painters, male cooks, salesmen, truck swappers, bookkeepers and clerks, are but a few of those seeking work, to provide a little extra money for Christmas in their respective homes. The report of the committee will be submitted at the plenary session of the conference tomorrow for final ratification.

Rhodes Scholars Will Be Chosen

SEATTLE, Dec. 12 (P).—Two Rhodes scholarship candidates to represent the state will be chosen by a committee headed by Judge Walter B. Beals, of the State Supreme Court, here on Saturday. Ten candidates will appear. On Monday, they will compete at Spokane with candidates from Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and North Dakota for the four scholarships for the area.

Provincial Problems Too Varied to Permit Full Consideration

OTTAWA, Dec. 12 (P).—Further contributions by the Dominion Treasury to the Provinces to defray relief costs, possibly on an increased basis, was the proposal taken into consideration tonight by the Dominion-Provincial Conference committee of ten on financial questions. It is anticipated a meeting of the Cabinet Council will be held tomorrow, prior to a plenary conference session, to enable the Government to reach a decision on this point.

Four conference committees were in session today and there will be two or three clean-up meetings tomorrow morning, after which each of the six committees will present a report to the plenary session. The secrecy which has surrounded all conference activities since the opening session Monday morning, will be maintained. At a meeting of the conference steering committee, this afternoon, it was decided tomorrow's plenary session will be in private.

Features of today's developments, as revealed in the press summary, were:

Satisfied with an express undertaking by the Victoria and Saanich beaches and parks committee that the subsequent boulevards will be adequately maintained, the Provincial Government ordered an immediate start yesterday on the boulevarding of Benvenuto Avenue as an ornamental approach to Butchart's Gardens.

UNDERTAKE MAINTENANCE
The joint undertaking of Victoria and Saanich to maintain the double-sided boulevard when installed was received by Mr. MacPherson by resolution of the park and beaches committee, meeting earlier in the week.

As 500 early flowering Japanese cherry trees have already been offered by Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Butchart for planting at the site, the way is now cleared for a start on the project before Christmas.

When completed, the cherry blossom drive along Benvenuto Avenue will be the second of its kind on the continent, and the only one known in Canada. In the Spring of each year trees to be planted at the site will bloom with an effulgence of delicate pink blossoms that will present a magnificent sight, it is believed.

CLAIMS POLICE ROBBED STORES

Toronto Inquiry Told That Twenty-Five Officers Involved in Many Thefts

TORONTO, Dec. 12 (P).—A band of twenty-five police constables known as the "100 Per Cent" gang, have been systematically robbing Toronto stores and factories, former Constable William J. Watt declared today before the Police Commission inquiry into conduct of Police Constable Michael O'Shea and circumstances of his reinstatement in the force.

Watt, who served a reformatory term for entering a downtown shop, said that to his knowledge the thefts had been going on since 1910, a period of twenty-five years. He directly involved O'Shea, saying he had seen him coming out of shops with bundles.

CHARGES COMPLEXION
Mayor James Simpson declared that Watt's evidence had changed the nature of the inquiry from investigation of one individual officer to a searching inquiry into activities of the other officers. The inquiry will be resumed tomorrow with J. C. McRuer, K.C., commission counsel, making an effort to confine the evidence to the case of O'Shea. A report will be made later on the advisability of proceeding with the charges against the twenty-five officers in Watt's list.

Names of the twenty-five constables as submitted by Watt were withheld from publication. It was announced that Chief Constable D. C. Draper would make a full report of a check on Watt's evidence.

WILL BE CHARGED WITH KIDNAPPING

Suspects in Labatt Case Waive Extradition and Are Being Taken To London

LONDON, Ont., Dec. 12 (P).—Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton announced tonight that Russell Knowles and Herman Kierdorff, arrested at Ottawa, Ill., for the kidnapping of John S. Labatt, have waived extradition and are on their way from Chicago to London under police escort. They will reach here early tomorrow morning.

Knowles and Kierdorff will both be charged with kidnapping and armed robbery of the wealthy London brewer in August, 1934. Police will try to prove that Knowles was one of the actual abductors and that Kierdorff advanced money for the carrying out of the crime.

CHARGE IS DISMISSED

VANCOUVER, Dec. 12 (P).—Two Chinese cafe operators, charged with failing to obey a police order prohibiting them from employing white women in their cafes, were dismissed on a technicality by Police Magistrate H. S. Wood today.

Lord Found Innocent Of Manslaughter by Verdict of His Peers

Six Hours of Juridical Pageantry Ends in Acquittal of Lord de Clifford—Trial in House of Lords of Kind in Over Three Decades

LONDON, Dec. 12 (P).—The House of Lords today acquitted Lord de Clifford, twenty-eight years old, on a charge of manslaughter arising from an automobile accident. The verdict of innocence was returned after six hours of juridical pageant such as had not been seen for thirty-four years.

The verdict—"not guilty upon mine honor"—was pronounced one by one by the assembled peers with their right hands over their hearts, following the taking of evidence.

The case arose from an automobile accident at Kingston-on-Thames in which Douglas George Hopkins, a commoner, was killed.

The youthful lord took his place before the bar to answer the question: "How say you, my lord—guilty or not guilty?"

A SOLEMN TRIBUNAL
Around him the solemn tribunal of his fellow peers, in crimson robes and cocked hats, looked down on him in judgment. Lord de Clifford himself was uncovered and without his robes.

A procedure dating back to Magna Carta and the reign of King John (1199-1216 A.D.), the trial invoked for the first time since 1901 the age-old right of Britain's peers to be tried for a felony not in the criminal courts but in the House of Lords.

The last trial so held was that of the late Earl Russell, charged in 1901 with bigamous marriage to Mollie Cooke, at Reno, Nevada. Lord Russell was convicted and sentenced to three months' imprisonment, but received a pardon ten days later from the King.

ANOTHER CHAPTER
Lord de Clifford's trial by the House of Lords adds another chapter to the colorful biography of the young baron.

Seven years ago, at the age of twenty-one, he married Miss Dorothy Evelyn Meyrick, one of the three daughters of the late Mrs. Kate Meyrick, London's most famous night club proprietor. Mrs. Meyrick, who from 1927 to 1931, constantly was having trouble with the police for liquor law violations, going to jail several times, saw two of her daughters marry into the peerage before her death on January 9, 1933.

Another daughter, Mary Ethel Isobel Meyrick, was married to the Earl of Kinnoull in 1928.

mittee that the mining industry should have a period of at least five years of stabilized taxation.

2. Agreement in the constitution committee on the principle and methods of amending the British North America Act.

3. Creation of a continuing sub-committee of the committee on financial relations between Provinces and Dominion.

4. Adoption by the committee on unemployment and social services of a system for registering and classifying unemployed people on relief.

In the mining committee this afternoon, under the chairmanship of Hon. T. A. Crerar, it was agreed that the committee should submit a report urging that when a national conference is called in regard to uniform company laws, full consideration should be given to all matters concerning the situation of companies for the purpose of carrying on mining operations.

This had reference to the task assigned yesterday by the constitutional committee to Hon. Fernand Rinfret, Secretary of State, to convene a conference of experts and provincial officials to draw up a uniform Companies Act applicable to all the provinces.

PERMANENT BODY
Creation of some permanent form of the Dominion-Provincial Conference was indicated tonight when spokesmen for several committees admitted that the problems facing them were too great to reach definite conclusions in so short a time as permitted by the present conference.

This is true of the financial committee which has already appointed a continuing body, consisting of Finance Minister Dunning and all provincial treasurers. The same is likely to be done by the unemployment committee and that dealing with mining.

BIRTH SHORTAGE WORRIES FRANCE

War and Inclination to Smaller Families Is Being Blamed by The Experts

PARIS, Dec. 12.—France's declining birthrate is due to a sharp drop during the next decade, those studying the problem believe—because of the Great War.

There were 1,700,000 fewer births than there would have been normally in France, it was computed, between 1914 and 1919.

Babies born in that period have reached marriageable age, or are nearing it. Their paucity is expected to be reflected in fewer marriages and fewer births in the coming decade.

POPULATION GAP

The expected new population gap, it is pointed out, may result in another, though less marked, gap twenty or twenty-five years hence, carrying the effects of the low war-time birthrate many years into the future.

It is the general tendency toward smaller families rather than the war baby shortage, however, that is giving the most concern to those striving to raise the birthrate in France. Fernand Bouverat, leader of the organization advocating larger families, is warning the country that, if the present tendency continues, a sharp population drop, increasing the hazard of invasion by a foreign power, will come shortly.

Treaty. This fitted in with the British position.

DEMANDS INCONSISTENT
Both powers declared the Japanese demands for equality of fleet and armament were inconsistent with Japan's position in favor of equality of security.

The Japanese refused to name the "common upper" tonnage figure at which they want the three navies pegged. Tomorrow, however, the Japanese are expected to disclose further details of what they want.

The British delegates hope that once the security issue is thoroughly threshed out, a situation will be created whereby present navies can be held at a status quo strength for a number of years.

POLITICS BECOME HOT IN ASBESTOS

Mayor Resigns in Face of Barrage From Quebec Voters Then Councilors Resign

ASBESTOS, Que., Dec. 12.—Municipal politics are becoming so hot in Asbestos everyone is just burning up. First, one faction of voters wanted Mayor J. G. Belanger to know that they didn't like his attitude and demanded he resign. He did.

Councillors John D. McKenna, Ernest Barendse, Louis Lefebvre and J. Edouard Bourque readily agreed no man was perfect, especially in the eyes of the voting public. But for a crowd to jam the council chamber and "force" the mayor to resign and then stage a "miniature revolution" to impress the rest of the council with the necessity for accepting the resignation was nothing short of "mob rule." And mob rule they didn't like. So they quit last night—just when preparations were under way to choose a new mayor.

chaser in large quantities, was not buying any more.

This rumor Morgenthau was at pains to scotch today. He received newspapermen for his regular semi-weekly press conference and was ready with his answer to the first question fired at him.

"What about silver?"
"I have a statement on that," Morgenthau replied. "I am continuing to carry out the mandate of the Silver Purchase Act, which is authorized and directed to purchase silver at home or abroad for present or future delivery with any direct obligation, coin, or currency of the United States authorized by law, or with any funds in the treasury not otherwise appropriated."

PEACE TALK HALTS FURTHER SANCTIONS

criticism that the procedure adopted was undermining the authority of the League.

Both Laval and Eden, however, were emphatic in assuring the committee of eighteen this afternoon that there has never been any intention to take negotiations outside the framework of the League.

ALL WITHIN LEAGUE

"We never had any thought," Laval declared, "of giving final shape to the conversations without consulting the League. After the Italian and Ethiopian replies are received, they will be communicated to the Council."

"Our task," Laval proceeded, referring to the Franco-British effort, "will then be at an end. It will be for the League itself to decide what is to be done. We are at least confident that it will appreciate the loyalty of an effort which I say again had no other purpose than to hasten settlement within the League itself of a dispute, the continuance of which weighs heavily upon the world."

HOPEFUL SUGGESTIONS

Eden stressed that the Franco-British proposals were neither definite nor sacrosanct. "They are suggestions which it is hoped may make possible the beginning of negotiations," he explained.

INTENT ON BARGAIN

ROME, Dec. 12 (P).—Benito Mussolini, intent on driving a good bargain for the League itself to decide what is to be done, was represented as satisfied with the main outlines of a Franco-British proposal to end the conflict.

It is quite probable that he will accept it as a basis for discussions, these sources said, because he is confident that he can get favorable modification of several "unsatisfactory" details.

SECURITIES ADVANCE

Despite a spokesman's warning against "excessive optimism," popular feeling was reflected in higher stock and bond prices. Government securities advanced another point today.

Experts and marked maps showed the dictator what land he would get in Northern and Southern Ethiopia if the peace proposals go through, and the vast lake region he would have for "colonial expansion."

Yet Mussolini went on with his war and his resistance to sanctions, and even found time to sign an accord with Belgium for the settlement of commercial debts during the economic siege.

UNDER LEAGUE AUSPICES

LONDON, Dec. 12 (P).—Alfred Duff Cooper, Secretary for War, predicted tonight that the Anglo-French peace plan "may fail and very likely will fail," but insisted the British Empire will continue to act "under the auspices of the League."

Failure of the current basis for settlement, he declared in a speech to his London constituency, is "likely" because it is difficult, after six months, "to find terms that will satisfy both sides."

He added: "You can blame the British and French for putting forward these suggestions, but that is the only crime they have committed."

OPINION UNCHANGED

This and other official reassurances that the peace plan is not being forced through failed, however, to still outcroppings of public opinion that were condemnatory of the Government's conduct of the affair.

The League of Nations Union adopted a resolution urging the Government to "continue the policy of sanctions until they are effective and to support no settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute which fails to make it clear that aggression does not pay."

Viscount Cecil, Sir Austen Chamberlain and Lord Allen will head a union delegation which is to see Prime Minister Baldwin tomorrow.

Despite bitter opposition in the House of Commons on the grounds that Italy was being allowed to dictate its own terms, the Cabinet went ahead with the peace programme.

ATTACK ON LAVAL

PARIS, Dec. 12 (CP-Havas).—Hostility against Premier Laval flared in the Chamber of Deputies tonight when Leftist deputies filed formal demands for permission to challenge the Laval-Hoare proposals for settling the Italo-Ethiopian conflict.

Following a bitter attack on M.

Laval for his role in drawing up the peace plan with British Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, Pierre Cot, Leftist deputy and former Air Minister, asked permission to question the Government. He charged that the proposal compromised the system of collective security and weakened France's moral authority.

Cot immediately was joined by three Socialist leaders, Leon Blum, Henri Fontanier and Georges Montet, who also demanded the privilege of asking questions. Premier Laval's action, they said, had paralyzed the effectiveness of League sanctions.

Cariboo Prophet of Weather Has Simple Basis for Forecasts

Moon, State of Rheumatism and Behavior of Kitchen Stove Combine to Give Quesnel Man Sure Guide to Future

QUESNEL, Dec. 12 (C)—Quesnel's Springlike weather of the past month is likely to continue until Christmas says Hank Couture. The moon, a twinge of his rheumatism and the kitchen stove told him so.

Skeptics raised their eyebrows, but Cariboo residents are willing to "lay it on the line" to back up their weather prophet.

They instance: A group of bench miners decided to quit operations two weeks ago because of the lateness of the season. They went to Hank.

STILL AT WORK
"She may change on the tenth," he said, "but if no big storm hits us

No Cariboo rancher who can contact Hank will start haying without his "ok."

METHOD IS SIMPLE
Hank's method is simple to him. First, observation of the phases of the moon and its position; second, comparison of the acuteness or otherwise of his aches and pains before a storm; third, a check on the winter time behavior of the stove—whether the draught is fast, medium or slow.

Sometimes he can forecast weather weeks ahead and he has yet to miss a prediction, at least, so Hank's admirers claim.

No Permit, But Building Rises

HALIFAX, Dec. 12 (C)—A $1,000,000 Federal building is under construction in Halifax, but without a building permit from the city. Specifications for the twelve-story structure do not conform to requirements of the city charter, the board of works was told by City Engineer Harold Johnston, and hence no permit can be granted.

WILLIAMS AND OKELL WIN COUNCIL SEATS

P. R. Brown, 2,487; Major Stanley Okell, 2,418; Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, 2,396; Alderman T. W. Hawkins, 2,201; Alderman John Worthington, 2,061; Alderman Alex Peden, 1,857; Frank LeRoy, 1,595; Mrs. Alice McGregor, 1,253; William E. Sargent, 533.

For school board, first four elected: Walter E. Stenland, 2,347; Trustee C. R. Bishop, 2,328; Trustee Kenneth Ferguson, 2,258; John Wallace, 2,156; Arthur C. Pike, 2,111; P. G. Mulliner, 1,596; and Alex Marshall, 1,448.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT
Mayor David Leeming, after hearing the final count, issued the following statement:
"I regret that two old faces will be missing from next year's council, Aldermen Worthington and Peden. They are both men who will be hard to replace. At the same time I feel that in the two newly-elected aldermen, Mr. Williams and Major Okell, we will have two very useful aldermen who will work harmoniously with the board. I extend to them my heartiest congratulations." Apart from the decisive defeat of the daylight saving referendum, the features of the civic election were: Heading of the poll by Mr. Williams; election of Major Okell on his first bid for aldermanic honors; heading of the trustee poll by Mr. Stenland; election of Mr. Wallace on his first bid for school board honors, and the remarkably close vote.

Despite the lack of a majority contest, more votes were cast this year than last, when there was a contest for mayor. The total number of ballots cast yesterday was 4,718, as compared with 4,328 last year. The increase was due to the interest taken in the referendum.

CLOSE CONTEST
It is interesting to note that only 374 votes separated Alderman Hawkins, who secured fifth place in the aldermanic election, from Mr. Williams, who headed the poll. There were only 494 votes between Mr. Williams and the runner-up, Alderman Worthington. This is believed to be the closest contest the city has had in the aldermanic field for some years.

Likewise in the school board contest the voting was close. In fact, fourth position was held by Mr. Pike up to almost the last five or six counts, when Mr. Wallace crept up into fourth place. Mr. Pike was nosed out of the fourth seat by forty-five votes. It will be remembered that Mr. Wallace did not announce his candidature in the school board field until nomination day. This makes his victory even more remarkable.

OFFICIAL RECOUNT
There were very few spoiled ballots, but a recount will be held in the school board office at 9 o'clock this morning, when the candidates may be present to watch the counting.

To William Berry, of 3066 Doncaster Drive, and Mary Alice Hunter, of 3390 Tennyson Avenue, went the honors of being the first man and first woman to record votes at the poll yesterday.

Civic officials recalled last night that it is thirty-five years since all retiring members of the city council have been returned to office en bloc. Again the polling system instituted by M. F. Hunter, city clerk and returning officer, operated efficiently. The final count was made known at 9:30 o'clock. In the old days it used to be midnight before the results were known.

LIFE IN ARCTIC A MODERN WHIRL

Eskimos Spend Days Fishing and Evenings Listening to Dance Music, Resident Says

REGINA, C.—Eskimos in the Arctic spend their days fishing from schooners equipped with gas or Diesel engines, and their evenings listening to dance music, James Neely, Hudson's Bay Company manager, declares. Mr. Neely has just returned from Tuktoyaktuk, 150 miles northwest of Akavik.

Eskimos, he said, showed marked preference for old-time music, particularly cowboy songs. At their dances, fiddlers play these instead of native airs.

The Eskimo had also revamped his diet, which formerly consisted almost wholly of whale, seal and fish. He now ate many modern foods such as dried fruits and vegetables and some tinned goods.

ALL AGREE TO HONOR JELlicoe

House of Commons Unanimous in Desiring Monument to Great Admiral

LONDON, Dec. 12 (C)—The House of Commons today unanimously agreed to Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's motion the House tomorrow resolve itself into a committee to consider a humble address to the King, praying His Majesty to direct the erection of a monument to the late Lord Jellicoe at the public charge.

The seventeen-year-old Lord Jellicoe, who succeeded to the title on the death of his father, November 20, looked down on the discussion from a seat in the distinguished visitors' gallery. The monument, said the resolution, would be an expression of "the admiration of this House for his illustrious naval career and its gratitude for his devoted services to the state." A similar motion at the same time was unanimously adopted in the House of Lords, where it was moved by Viscount Halifax and endorsed by Lord Snell and Lord Mersey for the Labor and Liberal parties.

A MOVING TRIBUTE

The Prime Minister, a past master at expressing appreciation of great figures, delivered a moving tribute to the commander of Britain's ships at Jutland and the honored leader of ex-servicemen in the post-war years.

Major C. R. Attlee, Leader of the Opposition, rose to associate the Labor party with the motion.

Sir Francis Acland, on behalf of the opposition Liberals, also expressed entire agreement with the motion.

MORE WITNESSES HEARD AT REGINA

Scottish Immigrant Tells of His Experiences During Dominion Day Rioting

REGINA, Dec. 12 (C)—Three efforts by strikers to return from downtown Regina to the Stadium on the night of July 1 last, which were stopped by Royal Canadian Mounted Police, were described today to the Regina Dominion Day riot inquiry by Kenneth Forsythe, twenty-one-year-old on-to-Ottawa trekker.

Forsythe said he had been in Canada four and one-half years, coming from Scotland in 1931 under a Government immigration scheme. For two and one-half years he had been in relief camps in British Columbia. He is an orphan.

Other witnesses this afternoon were Wesley Krainichuk, L. F. Smith, bricklayer; W. Marchuk and Thomas Shwladenz.

Krainichuk picked Inspector Walter Mortimer of the R.C.M.P. plain clothes, out of the crowd of 100 spectators in the King's Bench courtroom, and identified him as the man he had seen, prior to the riot, telephoning from the Metro-Hotel to Premier J. G. Gardiner. He overheard Inspector Mortimer, he said, reporting he had been ordered from Ottawa to put the on-to-Ottawa takers into a camp.

WOMAN PIRATE IN HANDS OF POLICE

Japanese Conveying Countrywoman With Long Career of Buccaneering Home to Prison

SHANGHAI, Dec. 12 (CP-Havas).—Another chapter in the lengthy saga of women pirates on the China Coast was closed today when Japanese police put a twenty-seven-year-old girl named Sue Nakamura on board a vessel due to leave tomorrow for Japan, where she will go to prison for her misdeeds.

A primary school teacher at Hokkaido, Japan, her native province, she later went to Formosa and became associated with a notorious pirate chieftain, Chen Tai Lin.

She took part in hundreds of raids on junks and small towns along the coast and was known by the whole pirate fraternity, officers said. Police arrested her recently in Poochow, capital of Fukien Province. She was brought to Shanghai by Japanese authorities.

FIND NEWSPAPER PRINTED IN 1814

Old Copy of Quebec Mercury Now in Possession of Edmonton Man

EDMONTON, Dec. 12.—A copy of The Quebec Mercury, dated April 5, 1814, one of the few in existence, is owned by an Edmonton resident. It contains news of the Legislative Assembly of Quebec and stories of the Napoleonic war—front-page copy of that day.

One, Patrick Murphy, a ship's worker, pays tribute to the skill of "Doctor" Lakerrier, whose skill and judgment have prolonged my days. Dangerously wounded by a piece of lumber, Patrick, in the news columns of The Mercury, tells of his treatment at the hands of the doctor. The story describes how Dr. Lakerrier took the patient's "jaw bone out in four pieces" and how he was fed "through a glass pipe" for eighteen days when he was unable "to make use of any nourishment."

A little girl who does not understand encores found fault with the audience at a children's concert in which she helped to sing a chorus.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

New blood has been introduced to the City Council by the success at the municipal elections yesterday of Messrs. Edward Williams and Stanley Okell. The other three places are filled by Aldermen P. R. Brown, R. A. C. Dewar and T. W. Hawkins, who have secured re-endorsement by the electorate. Once again the popularity of Mr. P. R. Brown is attested by his high standing at the poll, and there is no doubt the service he has rendered as chairman of the Finance Committee in the past, as well as the likeability he has won for himself, have been contributory factors in his repeated victories. Both Mr. Williams and Mr. Okell are estimable citizens, and the former had the advantage of having become well known to voters as a candidate last year, when he only missed a place on the Council by a narrow margin. Every sympathy will be extended to Messrs. John Worthington and Alex. Peden in their defeat. They have proved excellent Aldermen, who gave good service to the city.

The School Trustee election proved no surprises. The poll was headed by Mr. W. E. Staneland, on old-time on the board, who after an absence was seeking the honor again. The other three elected are Messrs. Charles R. Bishop, Kenneth Ferguson and John Wallace. There is a recognized continuity of service in School Board affairs, and this has again been proved by yesterday's election, for three of the successful candidates have already had experience in such administration.

Chief interest in yesterday's poll centred on the fate of Daylight Saving. It was defeated by a round majority, and that is as well, because its institution here, when not in force in nearby cities, would have caused a good deal of inconvenience. It would not be the part of wisdom to handicap the city at a time when conditions are not all that they should be. That was undoubtedly the thought that was in the minds of the majority of the citizens when they went to the polls. It is easy to understand why as many as did voted in favor of the proposal because of the desire for more leisure during the hours of daylight. Often, however, the will of even such a substantial minority has to be sacrificed for the good of the whole. The experiment is not worth trying again and will not be until it extends simultaneously over a considerable area of the Northwest.

The vote polled at yesterday's election was not so substantial as anticipated, considering the fine weather. It would be well if more of our citizens took a livelier interest in their municipal affairs, and that such interest were shown, irrespective of whether or not there is a contest for the mayoralty. In a case such as yesterday, with Daylight Saving at issue, it could have been expected that at least 6,000 votes would have been polled. The total was upwards of a thousand less, which indicates an apathy that is not altogether understandable.

EGYPT'S CONSTITUTION

Egypt is to have a restored constitution and a greater measure of independence, and with the blessing of Great Britain. The recent demonstrations by students in Cairo would, at least ostensibly, seem to have ordered this course. It, however, has been shaping for a long time. It has been simmering ever since the Italo-Ethiopian dispute broke on the international horizon. Especially was this the case when the question of the imposition of sanctions arose. Egypt has wanted to know, as an immediate neighbor of Ethiopia, where it stands. Moreover, there has been recognition of a possible threat to its integrity by the presence of large bodies of Italian troops so near its frontiers.

The Messin Government, now defunct, has been a passive instrument in framing the destinies of Egypt. It has been attacked from every side and by every shade of political opinion in the country. It has not been satisfactory to the British Government, which exercises a certain form of tutelage over the affairs of Egypt. It has been a mute Government, and its very inertia has proved its undoing. Under the new dispensation Egypt will adopt a more definite course in its attitude towards the present war in Ethiopia. The relationship of the country with Great Britain will probably be clarified. The best-informed opinion in Egypt knows that in a crisis in the affairs of East Africa the support of British arms may become essential.

The fact of the matter is that the recent demonstrations against the Messin Government, although ostensibly directed against British interests, were in reality a mistaken idea that Great Britain has been responsible for the weakness of the administration at Cairo. That viewpoint will be dispelled under a new constitutional position in Egypt.

U.S.A. AND NEUTRALITY

The United States does not show much disposition to accept the view of the League of Nations on the subject of the Italo-Ethiopian war. What it is concerned about is remaining neutral, and perhaps it is the part of the wisdom in deference to the large Italian population in that country. There is, however, another aspect of the situation which the United States does not understand. It remembers that the League of Nations was little concerned over the Gran Chaco war and that there was no suggestion about the imposition of sanctions when Japan invaded Manchuria. It realizes that in the present instance European interests are closely threatened and appreciates why the British Fleet is concentrating in the Mediterranean. President Roosevelt, in furthering neutrality, has banned trade with Italy and Ethiopia, but it is not known if this decree is being enforced.

It was strongly protested by the Conference on Port Development, of New York, which regards the decree as "a serious blow to the commerce of the country and port," as being "premature and ill-advised," and as "not furthering the neutral position." Exporters have been devising ways and means for continuing to sell their goods to the warring states. In fact, there is a determination to follow the course pursued in 1914, 1915 and 1916 and to benefit from war. The struggle in the United States now is to appear neutral, but on this occasion there is depression, which makes that country all the keener to maintain its foreign trade. As long as it is maintained Italy at least can afford to regard the imposition of sanction: by other nations, even if they extend to oil, with a good deal of equanimity.

PROTESTANTISM IN GERMANY

The decree issued two weeks ago by Herr Kerl, Minister of Religion in the Third Reich Government, is the farthest step yet taken in Germany to compel the Protestant Church to become a tool of the State. This decree takes away absolutely from the church the right of governing itself. The associations and synods are forbidden to appoint pastors, to examine and ordain candidates for the ministry, to take up collections within the churches and to collect church taxes. They can take no measures dealing with church government. The pastors must read from the pulpits notices as dictated by the Minister of Religion. In fact, the whole system of the church as a spiritual body is emasculated in order to be absorbed into the Nazi State. The penalty of disobedience is dissolution.

The Confessional Synod, which has been the protesting element of the Protestant forces, will have to bear the brunt of this outburst. Harassed for the past two years under the administration of Bishop Müller, a fiercer fight is ahead under Herr Kerl. The attack has been shifted from the attempted despotism by Bishop Müller and other church leaders to the present overt effort of the Government to drag the church membership into servility to the Nazi Administration. The funds that the Synod has been accumulating from voluntary contributions for the maintenance of its work, in case it should be necessary to give up governmental support, has been confiscated by the secret police. One of the most cherished projects of the Confessional Party has been the creation of independent theological faculties. When the new lecturers of the faculty of Berlin were to be set apart at a service, the State authorities locked the doors of the church against them. The former leaders of the resistance against Bishop Müller say they will not yield to Herr Kerl. Whatever may be the upshot in the struggle for religious liberty cannot be far away.

All men and most women are copyists. They have little time, according to their own claim, to be anything else when they allow their minds to be distracted by so many things in a world where it is alleged to be necessary to move fast. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt enters the spotlight for a wise saying in venturing the opinion that "people are the most interesting things in the world." Alexander Pope seems to have had the same idea when he said "the proper study of mankind is man."

An American research worker has discovered an antidote to allylphosphidulphide. It is chloramine. Allylphosphidulphide is not a disease, simply a social handicap induced by the penetrating and tenacious constituent of the onion.

Professor James Chadwick, of Liverpool University, has been awarded the Nobel Prize for physics for 1935 for his work in connection with neutron particles. From what imperceptible things international recognition may spring!

LIVING

We are all so busy, and have so many far-off projects to realize, we are in such haste to be doing, to be writing, to be gathering gear, that we forget that one thing, of which these are but the parts—namely, to live. To sit still and contemplate—to be everything and everywhere in sympathy, and yet content to remain where and what you are, is not this to know both wisdom and virtue and to dwell with happiness?—R. L. Stevenson.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

A true friend of his country loves his friends and benefactors, and thinks it no degradation to commend and commend them.—Webster.

The first public meeting we attended in Canada was addressed by a Macdonald. The first speaker we listened to in Canada was Sir John A. Macdonald. The speaker we listened to on Tuesday night was Bishop MacDonald. The thought which entered our mind after putting those two facts together was the important part members of the Clan Macdonald have played in the public affairs of Canada, for religion is as essential in the affairs of any country as politics. John Sandfield Macdonald was the first premier of Ontario. Sir John Alexander Macdonald was the first Prime Minister of Canada.

You cannot go anywhere in Canada without encountering a Macdonald. If you transgress against the law, you are likely to be apprehended by a Macdonald, and if you are committed for trial, you may be defended by a lawyer Macdonald, and you will surely be adjudged either innocent or guilty by a Macdonald. When your time comes you are almost sure to go to the right place if you have the parting blessing of a Macdonald. Where all the Macdonalds come from it is hard to say, but we know they do not all hail from Nova Scotia, for we have met Macdonalds from Glengarry, Macdonalds from Lobo (somewhere in Middlesex), and Macdonalds from famous Zorra (somewhere in Oxford). We have even met Macdonalds who were newspapermen (misguided fellows). One of those journalists was also J. A., a famous preacher. Possibly Bishop MacDonald will forgive us for saying that the famous preacher and editor of that ilk was of the reformed faith. Dr. Macdonald was for some years editor-in-chief of The Toronto Globe.

Bishop MacDonald of Victoria is a lover of the music of the pipes. If he should read this he is going to be told a story of what happened to Dr. J. A. Macdonald when he attended a meeting of the British Press Association. The story is not original. We merely tell it as it was told to us. The Canadian representatives of the press of the Empire were the guests of their British brethren during a tour of the northern part of the isles. As the train carrying the company neared the boundary between England and Scotland Dr. Macdonald's friends noticed that he had become restless and excited. Turning to a friend, he said, "I wish you would look after Mrs. Macdonald for a time, because I appear to be losing all sense of mental and physical responsibility. When the train drew into the station at Inverness there was a piper piping on the platform. When he heard the strains of the music the temperamental editor and preacher rushed from the train, and was next seen striding backward and forward beside the piper. Then he disappeared for three days, and when he came back attempted to placate his wife by saying that he had been back in the hills speaking and dancing at an annual festival of Highland sheep shearers. This Macdonald was born in Canada and that was his first visit to Scotland. We wonder if in every case "the blood is true and the heart is Highland."

In his address Bishop MacDonald spoke of the strong men of New Scotland and the admiration, almost the reverence, of the people for well set-up and physically powerful men. According to tradition, there were strong men in Old Scotland, too; but Dr. MacDonald said he could not find them. He said that, compared with the average people of Canada, the present-day Scots were puny and weak—and it made him weep to think of it. The flower of the population had migrated to other lands, as the ancestors of the people of Nova Scotia had done, to escape the exactions of the landlords and for enjoyment of the glorious privilege of independence.

Scots are said to be clanish, but Bishop MacDonald said something in support of the clan system—for it embodied the principle of loyalty—of fidelity to the chief—and we suppose accounted for the unswerving loyalty of the Highlanders to the far from faultless Stuart dynasty. The feudal system was despotic, the clan system democratic. Although a remote descendant of the Macdonalds of Nova Scotia, Bishop MacDonald can still speak the Gaelic. While listening to his interesting and illuminative address, the thought arose in our mind that there is still a baron of Nova Scotia and that the first Gaelic we heard spoken was in Canada.

We remembered the case of a young Gael who had come down from the North, an exile from his loved isles, who used to sit by the fire in the long Winter evenings and sing such songs in the Lowland dialect as this:

I canna leave my Hielan' hame,
Nor a' the clan that bears my name.
O, flowers may bloom far ayont the sea,
But, oh, my Hielan' hame for me.

They tell me I might get gold and wealth,
They tell me I might a rich man be.
O, flowers may bloom ayont the sea,
But, oh, my Hielan' hame for me.

UNEMPLOYED CHRISTMAS TREE

Sir,—I again appeal through your paper on behalf of the Children's Christmas Party Committee for more assistance for this party. Much more foodstuffs are needed and toys also. We realize that many calls are being made on the public at this time but the children must and will remember this Christmas without any bitter memories. A Christmas dinner such as this necessarily means turkey, oranges, nuts, candies, cakes, ice cream and pudding, and anyone able to contribute any of these items would assist us very much. Toys for our little guests would be greatly appreciated and when you are buying one for your own please remember the unemployed Christmas tree. The concert being put on by a volunteer committee is going to be a very enjoyable affair. Your support can make this the most enjoyable time for these kiddies. ARDAH CAMPBELL, Convener Children's Party Committee, 1327 Government Street, Victoria, B.C., December 12, 1935.

A CATHEDRAL SERMON

Sir,—Your correspondent's diatribe in this morning's Colonist against Dean Quainton's Sunday evening sermon on "Armageddon" forces my pen. Making one in the Cathedral congregation on this occasion, I came away, I remember, under the distinct desire to print and publish a hundred thousand copies of the sermon in question. Like your correspondent, I am not going into the sermon at all. Oh, no! I won't touch it. And while not having time to count them all, the writer thinks there are about twenty-five separate and distinct statements of libel in the letter. However, why waste paper and ink? Dean Quainton needs no other protection than his own. I question if your correspondent's letter is sufficiently described as a diatribe. Possibly it was the radio transmission through which she was listening-in to this sermon. May I suggest to her through this medium to try it out again on the Christmas dinner and note if the flavor of the repeat will not be the equivalent of her impression gained through this means of the Dean's sermon? Personally, I rarely, if ever, listened to anything over a radio without becoming wildly anxious to go out and bring in the woodshed axe. J. STAFFORD, 2617 Graham Street, Victoria, B.C., December 12, 1935.

DEVOLUTION

Sir,—Few will doubt the assertion that during the Grecian Philosophic Age human thought was free and untampered with. However, to include a period of religious bigotry such as was cognizant of the Middle Ages, or an era that may truly be termed the Dark Age of humanity, (the latter half of the eighteenth century) in this category is questionable. Of all the epochs of effort, that of the age of Aquinas, Roger Bacon, St. Francis, St. Louis, Giotto, and Dante is the most spiritual, the most really constructive and indeed the most truly philosophic. Then it was that the English people were formed, then appeared that constitution of which all other free constitutions in the world are copies. Then it was that the House of Commons had its first sittings, and the common law rose to the dignity of science. Then arose the English language, inferior to that of Greece alone; then dawned that most wonderful of the glories of England, her literature. It is indeed hard to imagine how such progress could have been made in the age when Europe, we are told, was under "the tyranny of Rome," when the Western World was steeped in "monkish ignorance and superstitions." (sic.) If the history of truth is examined rather than the "history" of fiction we shall find that the despised Middle Ages was in reality the Golden Age of the Occident. Unfortunately for those who believe in evolutionary progress the eighteenth century was the lowest of darkest period in the last seven centuries. In every department of artistic expression the taste of this time was the worst possible. Education was at the lowest ebb it had reached since the foundation of the universities in the twelfth century. Ignorance, organization and care for the sick was almost unknown except in the religious orders during this time and the art of nursing was in terrible decay. With this evidence of devolution in mind it is easy to see why we today are prone to think our period represents an acme in the course of progress.

MONETARY THEORIES

Sir,—In your editorial of the 11th on "National Problems," you say Mr. Jackson Dods, of the Bank of Montreal, "believes that taxation has reached the saturation point." In fact, taxation is now consuming capital resources and sapping energy and enterprise, which means discouragement of industry, production and construction; these conditions do not tend to solve unemployment problems. I am very glad to hear that Mr. Jackson Dods and others have at last realized that taxation is crushing everything. He fails, however, to grasp the main point, which is that our Government—allow banks the monopoly of issuing money, and these same governments turn round and borrow that bank-made money and pay interest on it. Easy money for the banks. The public debt of Canada is almost $4,872,000,000. Annual interest amounts to about $420,000,000. I ask Mr. Jackson Dods and yourself, how such large debts and interest can possibly lower taxes? We even borrow money-money to pay the interest. Where can such conditions end? If our Government would waken up to the fact that the

MORATORIUM IN B.C. DISCUSSED

Directors of Chamber of Commerce to Further Study Provincial Act

Considerable discussion took place on various aspects of the British Columbia Moratorium Act and the question was referred to a special committee for consideration, when directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce met yesterday.

A committee which previously considered the Dominion Housing Act, and recommended that efforts be made to secure changes in the act to provide the establishment of a loan branch here, introduced a resolution pointing out that uncertainty concerning the policy of the Provincial Government in respect to the Moratorium Act was acting as a hindrance to the freeing of mortgage money in the province, and also interfering with the workings of the Dominion Housing Act.

SHIRK OBLIGATIONS
Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, speaking of the Moratorium Act, pointed out mortgages were not being paid off now by persons apparently able to do so. He said he thought the registrar of the Supreme Court should be empowered to investigate a mortgagor's ability to repay. In past years, Major Holmes continued, a substantial portion of mortgages had been repaid yearly, and nearly all of the returned money reloaned, thus helping building industries and employment. He said, in the past, $1,000,000 was circulated yearly in the city.

The Moratorium Act was proving a hindrance to the operation of the Dominion Housing Act here, in the opinion of J. V. Johnson. He further declared many persons did not want to build when householders now were overburdened with taxes, and the responsibility of providing relief money.

Both foregoing speakers and J. W. Hudson, J. O. Cameron and President W. T. Straith stated they realized that to rescind the Moratorium Act would work hardships on many unable to meet their mortgages. However, they were agreed the act should be made more flexible in order to collect from mortgagors in a position to pay.

GERMANY MIXED ON FOOD STATE

Government Declares Agriculture Is Sound, But People Line Up For Butter Ration

BERLIN, Dec. 12 (P)—What really is the food situation in Germany today?

"German agriculture is sound once more," Minister of Agriculture Darre proclaims. Rationing of butter was ordered by Darre at the beginning of November.

The consumers' own experiences may be at variance, even, with the published accounts. Housewives stand in line for hours trying to buy a pat of butter. They may be told no pork or pork products are available in all Berlin. They read glowing accounts in the morning papers of good fruit harvests, but a few hours later discover, for example, that the only apples they can buy are small and pitted.

The Nazi Government appears to be determined to carry out a policy of weaning the populace away from imported or scarce "luxuries" like butter and certain fruits.

TESTIFIES TO RULER'S RIGHT

Doctor With Previous Emperor Supports Selassie's Position on Throne

PARIS (P)—Emperor Haile Selassie's right to the imperial crown of Ethiopia is backed by a Parisian doctor who taught the "king of kings" how to speak and read French.

Dr. Vitalien, for seven years personal physician and adviser to Menelik II, backs his testimony with a photograph showing Haile Selassie sitting at Menelik's right hand during a court function.

"Menelik always intended the throne to go to Haile Selassie, his grandnephew, instead of his grandson, Lij Yasu," Dr. Vitalien said. "He knew Lij Yasu was unfit for the throne and while I sat by his deathbed his friends were burying the imperial crown."

NEVER CROWNED
"Lij Yasu, although he reigned for three years, never was crowned. When I left Ethiopia a year after Menelik's death all the work Menelik had done was crumbling under Yasu's misrule."

Lij Yasu was deposed by public proclamation in 1916 when Zauditu, daughter of Menelik, was proclaimed Empress and Haile Selassie, then Ras Tafari of Shoa, was named regent and heir to the throne.

Dr. Vitalien sailed for Djibouti from Marseille in 1906, but before he arrived in the French port word of his coming had reached Menelik.

II. Menelik, the first Ethiopian ruler to attempt to modernize his domain, had little faith in the incantations of native doctors and sent Vitalien an imperial invitation.

MENELIK'S ADVISER
The French doctor accepted and lived for seven years in the imperial palace, acting as personal physician and adviser to Menelik. "When I first knew little Tafari," said the doctor, explaining that "Tafari" was Haile Selassie's familiar name in the palace, "he was scarcely three years old."

"After he had learned Amharic from his native teachers the Emperor turned him over to me and I taught him to read and write French. When I left he was almost bilingual and I hear he speaks well even now."

DAIL VOTES TO CLOSE SENATE

Measure to Abolish Upper House Becomes Law Soon After Act Signed

DUBLIN, Dec. 12 (P).—Abolition of the Irish Free State Senate, requested by President Eamon de Valera, was voted tonight by the Dail Eireann.

De Valera's motion, after a long campaign, was carried by a vote of 76 to 57. He proposes to modify the present parliamentary system by retaining only the Dail and doing away with the Seanad Eireann.

As matters now stand, the measure, when signed by De Valera, becomes law within sixty days, regardless of what action the Senate may take.

The Dail Eireann passed a similar bill last year abolishing the Senate, but the measure was thrown out by the Upper House.

Under the constitution, however, the Senate cannot delay action on measures for more than eighteen months, a period which expired in November.

Qualicum Beach

The three-act play, "Mama's Baby Boy," was presented here recently by the Women's Auxiliary of the Qualicum Beach Canadian Legion, before a large audience. The production showed the same progressive improvement noted in the previous plays of this group. Careful attention to staging and setting was evident, and the new set of scenery is an acquisition to the hall.

The story concerned a financially embarrassed widow, played by Mrs. C. L. Arrowsmith, who hoped to make a marriage of convenience with a widower, also reputed to be rich, portrayed by Mr. H. W. Coombe. Both parties had children of about eighteen years of age, whom they persuaded to dress up in very juvenile costumes to prevent them giving away their true ages, and the result of their deception forms the story of the play.

Of the other players, Miss E. M. Caswell was outstanding as the daughter, Juliet, and Mrs. A. C. S. Bryan, as the sprightly grandmother. Anthony Playfair played the widow's son, and Mrs. Fred Parker the jealous Cynthia, cousin of Juliet. Mrs. Baker was Mrs. Anglin, sister of the widower, who gave away the secret of both parties' financial position, and Miss Mary Money played the maid. Minor roles were filled by Mr. F. Bagnall, Mr. Henry Mant and Miss Elsie Belyea. The direction was in charge of Mr. E. Sanders, and later of Mrs. H. Jarvis, who replaced him during his recent illness.

Toys Repaired—The Boy Scouts' Association of Victoria District has repaired 4,108 toys in the Christmas workshop at 515 Yates Street. Dolls being easily repaired, are still needed.

Chairman Returns—Trustee W. C. Moresby, K.C., chairman of the school board, returned to his post at the Wednesday night meeting, following a brief illness. He expressed his appreciation to the board for the flowers that were sent by the members.

Life Underwriters—Victoria and Island Life Underwriters' Association will hold its final meeting of the year in the form of a dinner and smoker this evening at the Pacific Club, commencing at 6 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all life underwriters to be present.

Lumber Stolen—Daring and ambitious thieves stole between 1,000 and 2,000 feet of dressed lumber from a scow moored alongside the old chemical works, Outer Harbor, between 8 p.m. Wednesday and 6 a.m. yesterday, officials of the Island Tag & Barge Company, Limited, advised city police.

Visiting Mainland—Acting-Premier A. W. Gray left yesterday for the Mainland, where he will remain until early next week. Hon. F. M. MacPherson and Hon. K. C. Mac-Donald were here during the day, the latter returning from Vancouver with praise for the results of the winter fair.

'Turkey Winners—Because prices are not stabilized yet in the turkey market, winners of turkeys at the recent Tourist Trade Development Association Winter Fair and Bazaar have not been mailed their orders. Officials hope to be able to place slips for 150 turkeys in the mails this week.

Junior C. of C.—Members of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Speedie's Cafe, and not in the Chamber of Commerce committee room, as previously announced. The change has been made owing to the Gyro hamper campaign concert being held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

E. Clark; three to six months buck, Angora, third, Mrs. Gregory; six to nine months doe, white Flemish, first, Mrs. Clark; second and third, A. F. Atkinson.

Plan Reservoir—Grand Forks city is applying to the Provincial Government for leave to build a dam for storage of 6,000 acre feet of water to be taken from the Granby River for power purposes, diversion to be 1,000 feet above the west fork of the river. Application for necessary water licence has been made, and will be determined before the Provincial Water Rights Board within thirty days.

All public schools throughout the Province will reopen on January 6, after an interval in which several thousand teachers and 120,000 children will have a brief respite from classrooms.

Unfounded Rumors—In spite of the efforts of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to secure simplification of the Dominion Housing Act to enable the establishment of a loan branch here, rumors were about to the effect that the chamber was opposed to the establishment of the scheme in the city. J. O. Cameron told directors of the chamber at a meeting yesterday. Two telegrams were sent to Ottawa recently by the chamber, urging the early establishment of the scheme.

Check Removed—Removal by the Federal Government of dump duties against British Empire products was being studied by departments of the Provincial Government yesterday, with a view to seeing what effect would ensue. Dump imports, it was said, had acted as some check against coal shipped in ballast to this Coast from Britain at a time when several such shipments had been tried. Whether removal of the duties would mean resumption of this trade could not be successfully foretold.

Fined for Driving Dogs Past "Stop"

OTTAWA, Dec. 12 (P).—Dogs were just dogs to Adeland Pisset, of Eastview, and it cost him $3 to find out today they are vehicles to the Ontario Highway Traffic Act. Pisset, resident of the East-End suburb, drove his dog team and sleigh out of a stop-street without stopping. Two automobiles collided avoiding "From Arthur."

them. The damage was slight. Magistrate Lester Clayton said he imposed the minimum fine because Pisset is a poor man.

After long deliberation, the blushing young man had decided which ring he wanted. "I want you to engrave on it, 'From Arthur to Molly,'" he said.

"If you take my advice," said the jeweler, who was a man of experience, "you will simply put on it 'From Arthur.'"

Christmas Music Told in Stories By Miss Parfitt

Amid a charming setting of Christmas trees, colored lights, evergreens and flowers, the beautiful story of the Nativity was given in the Sunday school room of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Monday evening last, under the auspices of the Young Women's Mission Circle.

Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie, the pastor, opened the meeting with prayer, after which all stood in silent tribute to the memory of the late Mr. William Marchant, a former honored member of the church.

Dr. Imrie introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Rosemary Parfitt, who took as her subject, "Christmas in Story and Music." The speaker divided her subject into four parts, namely, oratorio, hymns, songs and carols, and in the oratorio section spoke of the Handel's Messiah, the character of the work and its relation to the scripture, which was read by Miss Netta Parfitt.

Mrs. W. R. Gunn, soprano, gave a delightful rendition of "Rejoice Greatly," and Miss Catherine Denison, contralto, gave a splendid interpretation of "O Thou That Tell'st." The chorus work was accompanied by phonograph records.

CHRISTMAS HYMNS
Miss Parfitt spoke of the importance of the Christmas hymns, the inspiration of the words and music, and their use during the Christmas festival.

"O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Brightest and Best" were the songs of the morning, which were sung by the choir. In the song section the speaker told several beautiful legends including one on "The Christ-Child." This was followed by Margaret Kennedy-Fraser's setting of the "Christ-Child Lullaby," which was given by Mrs. Gunn, and the popular Christmas song, "Star of the East," by Miss Denison.

The festive season would not be complete without the carol, continued the speaker, who dealt very extensively with this part of her address. At this point she was assisted by the Cecilia Choral Ensemble, which sang in the first group, "Here We Come A-Wassailing" and "First Nowell" and in the second group, the English carol, "A Child This Day Is Born" and the Italian carol, "Adeste Fideles." Miss Parfitt closed with the story which inspired the writing of the beautiful Christmas carol, "Silent Night," after which carols were sung by the audience.

SACRED NUMBERS
Mr. George H. E. Green, the well-known cornetist, also added to the enjoyment of the evening with two sacred numbers, and Miss Barbara Fraser, pianist, contributed two delightful piano solo. The accompaniments throughout were artistically played by Mrs. George H. E. Green.

During the social hour which followed, Miss G. Shields was the hostess, assisted by Miss Torrie Rennie, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. J. B. Munro and Mrs. R. Main. Refreshments were served from a prettily arranged table, and tea was poured by Mrs. A. S. Imrie and Mrs. C. Clapham. Assisting in the serving were Misses Edna Scobie, Winnie Waites, Netta Parfitt, Dorothy Smart, Mary Hancock, Bertha Waites and Mrs. G. Erikson.

Weddings

McGREGOR-HUNT
SUMMERLAND, Dec. 12.—The marriage of Dorothy, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hunt, and Mr. Frank Herick McGregor, son of Mrs. McGregor, of Victoria, and the late Captain Herick McGregor, was solemnized on Saturday evening, November 30, in Parkdale Baptist Church, by the pastor, Rev. John Scott.

The ceremony was performed against a charming background of cedar, snow-berries, white satin streamers and shaggy, white chrysanthemums. Tiny rose lights were strung through the cedar, and a novel wedding bell had been made of pine-cones. The guest-pews were marked with cedar and white berries.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a wedding gown of lustrous white satin, with long filmy veil. She carried a bouquet of single rose chrysanthemums. Her bridesmaids were her two sisters, Misses Lillian and Madeline Hunt, and they were frocked similarly in powder blue moire of floor length. They wore a flower bandeau and long white gloves, and their bouquets were of pink chrysanthemums. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Andrew McGregor.

The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Dale at the organ and Miss Ruth Dale at the piano, and during the signing of the register, Miss J. Paradis sang. The ushers were Mr. Ernest P. Hunt, brother of the bride, and Mr. William Ritchie, Jr.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, where Mrs. Hunt, gowned in wine-colored velvet with matching hat, assisted in receiving.

For going away the bride wore a Harris tweed sweater suit, eggshell blouse and brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. McGregor will make their home in Vancouver for a short time, later going to Victoria to reside.

Mrs. Frank McGregor is a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital Victoria.

CHINESE SAIL FOR HOMETOWN

Eleven From Victoria and Larger Group From Mainland to Leave

Repatriation of Chinese, mostly those of advanced ages and now without work, is continuing this week, under joint arrangement between Federal and Provincial Governments.

Eleven Chinese from Victoria and vicinity, and a larger group from Vancouver and Mainland points, will be put aboard a trans-Pacific liner on Saturday, to commence the journey to their native land.

The repatriation of selected Chinese, with their consent, was a policy adopted about a year ago by the two Governments, each bearing half of the cost of transportation.

Including first groups repatriated twelve months ago, more than 400 Chinese have been given passage back to their country under the plan. For the most part these were elderly men, many of whom paid the head-tax of $500 to come into the country in the early days.

CHILD'S DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Coroner's Jury Finds That No
Blame Attached to Driver of Automobile

The inquest yesterday into circumstances surrounding the death of Joan McKinnon, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. F. W. McKinnon, on Tuesday evening last, near the corner of Boleksine Road and the extension of Douglas Street in Saanich, resulted in a verdict of accidental death being reached by the jury.

The cause of death was given by Dr. W. J. Endicott as due to shock, the result of internal injuries.

DRIVER'S EVIDENCE

Evidence of William Robertson, driver of the automobile concerned in the accident, was that he, and his wife, were driving south on Douglas Street going towards the city. The car was in good order, he said, having been recently overhauled. As he approached the intersection of Boleksine Road he had moved over towards the middle of the roadway so as to command a better view. There were no other cars traveling the highway, but two cars and a truck were parked on the gravel in front of a store and not on the paved part of the road.

DRIVING SLOWLY

Hearing voices of children, witness said he reduced his speed to about fifteen miles. It was about 3:20 in the afternoon, a time when children might be expected, he testified.

When about thirty-five or forty feet from the corner he saw a child bending down. He sounded the horn several times and applied the brakes. He saw the child again but had no idea she was going to cross the street. He then saw the child run onto the roadway.

He said he turned his car to his left and when he glanced back he could not see the child. His car ran into a pole at the side of the road. He said he heard a scream, but did not know what had happened.

Witness said he found the child just in front of the car, crying. He did not know whether she had been struck by the car or not.

James Gaskill was proceeding along Old Saanich Road. He did not see the accident but heard screams and later helped to push the car back and he said he lifted the child and found her leg was broken. He then took the child to her home, a short distance away.

What Today Means

"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 13 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon; from 3 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m., from 1 to 3 p.m. and from 5 to 7 p.m.

An intensive desire to do some particular thing, or to possess something, probably will be responsible for making so many people restless this day. A reasonable wish is likely to be realized. An irrational viewpoint may cause a strain in friendly relationship, if it is made the subject of discussion, so do not be drawn into any argument regarding anything you know is unworthy of serious consideration. Remember, it is seldom that friendship can stand the strain imposed upon it by any financial obligation that cannot be met, or is ignored. This day should be auspicious for all forms of financial negotiations. Married and engaged couples, and those no longer "heart and fancy free," will be wise to overlook any little shortcomings, and to refrain from commenting on them.

If a woman and December 13 is your birthday, you are inclined to be an idealist. The quicker you realize this is a very practical age we are living in, the better off you probably will be. You cannot live in a land of make-believe, and at the same time solve economic problems. Avoid trying to plan how to disentangle yourself from some purely imaginative situation you fear might develop, and concentrate on matters that confront you this day. You have the power to overcome any obstacle, if you will but persevere. If you have great money-making possibilities, if you will utilize your talents. No one has a right to let his gifts lie dormant, for they were given to you to make good use of. Interior decorating, painting, acting, singing, teaching or some literary pursuit may enable you to make plenty of money.

The child born on December 13 may be inclined to be a dreamer when it arrives at preparatory school age. It must be able to realize the value of keeping men-

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

VALUE OF HEAT DURING ILLNESS

One of the ways the physician learns the seriousness of his patient's illness is by taking a sample of his blood and counting, under the microscope, the increase in the number of white corpuscles due to the illness. If there is a great increase he knows that the infection is severe, but if the patient's heart is strong he knows that the body is making a good fight against the illness. It is these white corpuscles which fight off the infection.

If the patient is quite ill and there is only a slight, if any, increase in the number of white corpuscles, the physician knows that the patient's resistance is poor and that it will be hard if not a losing battle.
In some chronic ailments such as paralysis of the insane, some wonderful results have been obtained by injecting the patient with malaria organism, letting him have the usual attack of malaria with its fever and chills, and then curing the malaria by the use of quinine. In a number of these cases after the attack of malaria passed away the patient's became normal mentally and were able to return home and to business. Unfortunately a number received no improvement, but others who were not completely cured were slightly improved.

Later, it was found that it was not necessary to infect the patient with malaria, that if the body heat could be increased (as it is in malaria) by the use of electricity, many of these patients could be cured.
To learn the changes taking place in the number of blood cells during these "heat" treatments, Drs. F. Cohen and S. L. Warren, Rochester,
New York, recorded in The Journal of Investigation, the raising of the temperature several degrees and keeping it raised for a definite period. In addition to changes in the red corpuscles it was found that

Barred Holds in Ballroom Dancing

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 12. — Miss Doris Rilsness, Creighton, Neb., University of Nebraska student and dancing authority, blacklisted these types of the ballroom pastime:

Pump handle, death grip, bouncing ball, clinging-vine and rumble seat. The names refer to different terpsichorean gaucheries.

"Are you a doctor?" asked a young lady, stepping into a drug store. "Naw," replied the youth behind the counter. "I'm just the physician."

The Romance Racket

CHAPTER XXIX

That night Carol mused about what had happened at that strange interview in the Van Cleve home. She had suspected that there was something strange. Horton Van Cleve's manner had convinced her of it. She thought again of the expression in his cold eyes that made his smile, his charming manner, his kind words seem false. She remembered again the relief, the joy and fright in Miranda's voice when she had spoken to her.

Carol knew from her experience with the mental cases in Dr. Harding's office that she must not judge cases by their appearance. Plainly, Miss Van Cleve's nephew had intimated that his aunt was a mental case, which she might very well be. Carol felt that she had to keep a tight grip on her prejudices. Just because a man had dark beetling brows and a mouth like a horse was no reason why she should think he was an ominous character and likewise she must not jump to conclusions because the doll-like Miranda was a schoolmate of her mother's.

Nevertheless, she anticipated the morrow and succeeding days with repressed excitement.

"This is our last date for a while," she told Gary that night. "I have plans for us. Ned Banks' crowd is getting up a skating club and I think you might find it fun."

Ice skating was Carol's only athletic accomplishment and she hadn't skated for years. She thought of the exhilaration of flashing over the ice, the zest that she would enjoy so much.

"Oh, dear, that's out for a while," she said.

"Break an ankle recently?" "No, but I will be working nights. Look here!" Gary was the picture of exasperation. "I'm what you'd call a patient man, but this is carrying a thing too far. Out of a world of girls, I pick you out to be mine. Then you get a job in a Broadway show and work every night. You get out of that and work every day just when I'm getting my schedule adjusted to yours and now you have to work at night, too. It's too much."

Carol laughed. There's always time to have fun."

"Oh, no, there isn't, my good woman. You can only have fun when you're young. Chuck the job. It's no good when you have to work day and night."

"I can't do that," she said firmly. "Say, what is this. Are you falling for that doctor?"

"No, I'm not! Gary, do you know anything about Dr. Harding?" "Nothing except that he's married, has three kids, belongs to a string of good clubs and is considered the best alienist in this town."

"He is considered the best?" "I guess he is. Why ask me questions about the man you work for?"

"Gary, I'm serious about this. Would Dr. Harding's opinion hold against any other doctor's? I mean oh, I don't want to mean. She did not know what she meant, but she felt that she had said too much already. She didn't intend to take anyone into her confidence, she didn't even mean to let her own suspicions grow so much that she could say anything.

"I'd be surprised if I didn't," Gary said, answering her question. "But if you mean: Is it right because it is Dr. Harding's opinion that you should work at night and mine that you shouldn't, the answer is no, a thousand times no!"

"I mean at all. And don't ask any more questions because I'm not going to answer them."

"All right then, I won't ask you if you're still considering marrying me."

"I wouldn't answer that one anyway," she said. "I'm not in a romantic mood."

"It's too bad cousins don't act more alike," he said for no good reason, but Carol looked at him suddenly.

"If you mean Kathy," Carol said, "you should have come along a long time ago."

"I didn't mean anything," he said, "but Kathy is a dangerously romantic little girl and I could have gone for her myself but my intentions would never have been honorable."

"And why not?" Carol asked tartly. "For the simple reason, my dear, that I couldn't possibly have asked Kathy to marry me unless she had a couple of million dollars! Miss Prentice would have been an expensive wife and I see no other way for me to attract huge sums of money other than marrying it."

Carol was aghast. What was Gary saying? She knew that he spoke lightly, but he said he would have asked Kathy to marry him if she had a couple of million dollars—or his words meant the same thing. And he had asked her—Carol—to marry him and she was the one with the millions!

Gary didn't know that—or did he? Kathy had promised not to tell him. She had no friends who would have given her away. She had taken Isabel into her confidence and made her promise not to tell anyone she was an heiress—and as for Gary himself—he had let him think she had only one hundred and fifty dollars a month.

Her thoughts were in a turmoil as she looked at him across the table. If he knew that she had so much money, surely he would never have spoken as crudely as he did. But did he know? Was he cleverly pretending?

Oh, no, Gary, she pleaded with him silently. Don't let it be that way. Gary was . . . why Gary was her . . . he was the most important person in the world to her. He had liked her for herself from the very start—not for her money. He had proposed to her because she was . . . no, he hadn't said he loved her. He had said he thought it would be amusing."

"Dance?" he asked, unaware of all that was going on in Carol's mind. Silently she glided into his arms, her mind on the question that confused her and not on the music.

"You haven't told me what this work is you are doing at night," he reminded her.

"Don't let's talk of work now. That was all she said."

"It's all right with me if you want to forget you are a working girl."

"Let's pretend I'm a night telephone operator and this is my only night off," she said gaily.

"And have you had me a lot of wrong numbers? And long distance stuff? And a very, cold, impersonal voice?" Gary pretended to be shocked.

"No, let's pretend that you are a diamond miner from Africa who came to stay at my hotel and you fell in love with my strawberry hair and invited."

"Hi, Carol! Where've you been hiding? I've called up twenty times this past week." It was Wayne Sommers.

"She's a hard working girl, works days and nights, son," Gary said to him.

"That's what she says," Wayne jeered and sighed deeply. "I don't know what's getting into girls lately. They've gone work-mad. But Mary Cameron says Carol is the only pretty girl with a million bucks who'd have enough stamina to keep on working after her picture'd been in the paper once."

Carol laughed too quickly and breathlessly.

"Mary didn't know what she was talking about. She must have been talking about someone else."

"Oh, yeah? Since when is it a disgrace to have dough? I looked it up in Bradstreet's myself, Carol."

Carol looked at Gary whose face was expressionless. Wayne Sommers, the little blundering fool! She hated them both!

NEW ACTORS ARE EXPECTED TODAY

Assistant Director Sick in Seattle—
Work on "Tugboat Princess"
Starts Monday

Headed by David Selman, ace director for Columbia Pictures Corporation, twelve actors, actresses and technicians are expected to arrive here today from Hollywood, to take part in the Central Films second production, "Tugboat Princess," work on which will begin Monday.

Mr. Selman's assistant, Mr. Boswell, was suddenly taken ill in Seattle yesterday, and will be in hospital there for a few days. Kenneth J. Bishop, producer of the local company, stated last night at the Dominion Hotel.

Those expected here today are: Mr. Selman, Walter C. Kelly, male lead; Valerie Hobson, female lead; Edith Fellers, child actress, who will play the role of the tugboat princess; a tutor for the young star; John Moore, juvenile lead; Clyde Cook, comedian; Mrs. Violet Hobson, mother of Miss Hobson, and technicians.

The Hopkins, the Island Tug & Barge Company's tug which has been seen in local waters for many years, will be used in the picture, Mr. Bishop said. The tugboat meets requirements in every respect, he added.

Efforts are being made by the company to find a small trained dog to play a prominent part in the picture.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Danny Has the Shakes

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Of all the chills of which you hear
There's no chill like the chill of fear.

Danny Meadow Mouse sighed with thankfulness and relief as he reached the other side of the Laughing Brook by way of the old log which had fallen across it, thus making a bridge. To be sure he was a long, long way from his snug little home, where Nanny Meadow Mouse was anxiously waiting for him, but at least he was on the right side of the Smiling Pool and the Laughing Brook. He no longer needed to think of the Big Pickers or of Snapper the Turtle. He had left Billy Mink and Reddy Fox way back by the Smiling Pool, so he felt quite safe from them.

Of course, when he should reach the edge of the Green Meadows and start across to his snug little home he would have to watch for Reddy or Old Granny Fox, for one or both are likely to appear there at any time, but just now he felt quite safe and it was a very good feeling indeed.

Being at last on the right side of the Laughing Brook, Danny felt that he had earned a rest, but having the wisdom of long experience he first looked for a place where he could rest in safety. Just a few feet from the end of the log which he had crossed the Laughing Brook was another old log. At once Danny scampered over to it for he long ago learned that old logs are quite likely to be hollow and when they are they make the very finest retreats in all the Great World for timid little people who wish to keep out of sight.

Just as he hoped, this old log was hollow and the only entrance was through an old knot hole barely big enough for Danny to squeeze through. Making sure that no one else was there Danny squeezed in and promptly curled up for that much needed rest. Feeling quite safe he promptly forgot all his recent troubles and was happy, which fortunately is the way of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. If it were not for they would know very little happiness.

In two minutes Danny was fast asleep. How long he slept he didn't know but suddenly he was wide awake. He heard nothing, but he had a feeling of uneasiness. He crept to the entrance and peeped out. The moonlight lay full on the old log across the Laughing Brook and even as he looked a slim dark form leaped up on the farther end and began to run swiftly across with nose close to the old log.

It was Billy Mink and Danny knew Billy's wonderful nose had found his scent somewhere on the other bank and that it would lead Billy straight to that hollow log. And so it happened. It was scarcely a minute before Billy's nose was poked in at the knot hole and Billy took one long sniff. "Ah, ha!" said Billy. "So this is where you are. Come out like a gentleman and be eaten."

Danny said nothing, but he began to shake as with the cold. It was the chill of fear. He was trapped.

VICTORIA WEST

Harry Pearce was elected president of the Victoria West Association at a meeting held last night. Sergeant Arthur Bishop was selected vice-president and R. H. Kipling was named secretary. Those elected to the executive were H. S. Hurn, school principal; Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Hurry, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Collin. Mr. Kipling, a popular member of the teaching staff, was highly praised for his work as secretary during the last four years. A committee composed of Sergeant Bishop, Principal Hurn, Mr. Kipling and Mr. Pearce was named to raise funds for the purchase of grass hockey sticks for the girls' team. Last night preliminary plans were made to hold a concert in the school auditorium on January 20 for that purpose. Mr. Hurn pointed out that his pupils had always made a good showing in sports and he was of the opinion that physical fitness helped the children in their school studies. He expressed the thanks of the parents to the teaching staff for the admirable manner in which the school had been conducted and the results obtained through their endeavors during the past year.

TRUCK MEN TO PRESS PROTEST

Nanaimo Operators Seeking Aid of Board of Trade for Lower Taxation

NANAIMO, Dec. 12.—Again protesting the order-in-council passed last June by the Provincial Government, local truckmen gathered in the Eagles' Hall tonight and considered letters from Hon. G. S. Pearson, member for Nanaimo; Rev. R. Connell, member of the Opposition, and W. F. McIntosh, highway administrator.

The meeting reiterated their complaint that trucks owned by private freight carriers taking up to thirty tons were only called upon to pay a tax of $5 annually, but that a limited freight carrier or small trucker using the provincial highway was forced to pay $18 registration fee and $8 per ton.

Members believe the tax will drive the small man from the road. The local association will carry their protest before the Nanaimo Board of Trade in an effort to have that organization assist them in their fight for lower taxation. They also intend to contact truck associations throughout the province in an endeavor to have the Government move in the matter.

Meanwhile members declare they will disregard the order-in-council, and suggested they might take their trucks from the road rather than comply with its requirements.

W. A. Wilgess occupied the chair.

Moore and Brandt Traded to Dodgers As Braves Rebuild

Outfielder and Pitcher Go to Brooklyn for Lopez, Cuccinello, Bengie and Reis—Flint Rhem Sold To Nashville—Rejects Plea From Amateur Congress for Sum of $250,000

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer.
CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Bob Quinn, a shrewd old grandpappy who is rated as one of the slickest traders in baseball, gave the major league player mart a final thrill today by trading two hired hands to Brooklyn for the price of four.

Back at Boston, this time with the task of rebuilding the down-trodden Braves, Quinn pulled a deal with his old Dodger confederates whereby he sent Outfielder Randy Moore and Pitcher Ed Brandt to Brooklyn in exchange for Catcher Al Lopez, Second Baseman Tony Cuccinello, and Pitchers Ray Bengie and Ben Reis.

The deal surprised baseball men, who were unanimous that Quinn had made the finest straight deal of the lively three-day meeting that closed today.

"I'm just starting," Grandpa Quinn said. "Yes, I figure the Braves got a right smart bargain today."

Other important news concerned the joint meeting of the major leagues with Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

It was voted to adopt the four interseasonal series plan, prohibit Sunday double-headers until June 15, and reject the plea for $250,000 from the Amateur Baseball Congress for the Olympic Games. The refusal to aid the congress was regarded as a direct slap at the Olympic Games in Berlin.

Three of the sorest spots on the Braves team, which set a losing record last season by dropping 114 games, were figured wiped out in today's two-for-four deal.

Brandt, now thirty, had several good years with the Braves but no longer is rated as a class one hurler. Moore, also thirty, has never been a great hitter, averaging around the .282 mark. The biggest surprise of the entire deal was the acquisition of Lopez, now twenty-seven, and a leading catcher for six years. Cuccinello, twenty-eight, was with Cincinnati before going to Brooklyn in 1932. His lifetime average is around .260.

Reis, twenty-five, was converted from an infielder to a pitcher last season, winning three and losing two games. Bengie, thirty-three years old, once was rated as one of the finest moundsmen. He won nine and lost nine for Brooklyn last season but had great years with Philadelphia.

Flint Rhem, one of the pitching greats for the Cardinals in their world's championship year, 1926, was sold by Boston to Nashville, along with Pitcher John Van de Merve, Rhem failed to win a game for the Braves last season and later was shipped on option to Syracuse, where he won eight and lost six.

Flint Rhem, one of the pitching greats for the Cardinals in their world's championship year, 1926, was sold by Boston to Nashville, along with Pitcher John Van de Merve, Rhem failed to win a game for the Braves last season and later was shipped on option to Syracuse, where he won eight and lost six.

REJECTS PLEA
It was voted to adopt the four interseasonal series plan, prohibit Sunday double-headers until June 15, and reject the plea for $250,000 from the Amateur Baseball Congress for the Olympic Games. The refusal to aid the congress was regarded as a direct slap at the Olympic Games in Berlin.

Three of the sorest spots on the Braves team, which set a losing record last season by dropping 114 games, were figured wiped out in today's two-for-four deal.

Brandt, now thirty, had several good years with the Braves but no longer is rated as a class one hurler. Moore, also thirty, has never been a great hitter, averaging around the .282 mark. The biggest surprise of the entire deal was the acquisition of Lopez, now twenty-seven, and a leading catcher for six years. Cuccinello, twenty-eight, was with Cincinnati before going to Brooklyn in 1932. His lifetime average is around .260.

Reis, twenty-five, was converted from an infielder to a pitcher last season, winning three and losing two games. Bengie, thirty-three years old, once was rated as one of the finest moundsmen. He won nine and lost nine for Brooklyn last season but had great years with Philadelphia.

BOMBER STILL BIG FAVORITE TO WIN FIGHT

Louis Expected to Cut Down Paulino Uzcudun in New York Tonight

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—With all signs pointing to the first Madison Square Garden sell-out since the ill-fated Primo Carnera-Ernie Schaff affair three years ago, the spectacular Joe Louis and old Paulino Uzcudun, of Spain, clash tomorrow night in a fifteen-round engagement.

Indications were that there would not be a vacant seat when Louis and the thirty-six-year-old wood-chopper climb through the ropes at approximately 10 o'clock E.S.T.

If the fight attracts the Garden capacity of 20,000, it will mean a gate of well over $100,000, the first to pass that mark since the start of the Jimmy McLarnin-Billy Petrolle series back in 1929.

HEAVY FAVORITE
Although the "brown bomber" is a top heavy favorite, fight circles consider the affair important as it may furnish the sternest test Louis' famed punching ability has known since he turned pro a little more than a year ago.

The negro, who has won twenty-one of his twenty-five professional fights by knockouts, may find it is going to take all he has to flatten the Basque. Paulino has never been knocked down in sixty-nine ring battles.

Along with James J. Braddock, champion of heavyweights, five former kings will be at the ringside. They are Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Primo Carnera and Max Schmeling, who is matched to fight Louis next June.

Principals in tonight's heavyweight fight in Madison Square Garden in New York, over the fifteen-round distance, Louis, named the "Bomber," since knocking out Carnera, Baer and Levinsky, will enter the ring a top-heavy favorite to stop the Spanish wood-chopper in six rounds or less. Experts, however, figure it will be the sternest test the sensational negro has had since turning professional just over a year ago. The veteran Spaniard has been in sixty-five fights, and has never hit the canvas yet. A crowd of 20,000 is expected to pack the Garden to see the boys go to it.

PORTLAND, Dec. 12.—Portland Buckaroos, trailing by two goals throughout the first two periods, surged into desperate action in the final session of their North-western Hockey League fixture to-night, to defeat Vancouver, 5-4, and cut the Lions' lead at the top of the league to a single point.

Lude Palm and Cline Smith gave Vancouver a two-goal lead in the first period, Bryan Hextall assisting in the second goal. Portland tied it up in the second, with Hemmerling scoring on Blyth's pass and McCartney giving Arbour the puck for the tying outburst.

Vancouver came back with a rush, however, and Walt Creasy batted home Smith's pass with Hextall adding another unassisted. The 4,300 wild-eyed fans jamming the Coliseum were treated to a great rally by the Bucks in the final session, as Scott scored twice with McCartney sandwiching in a third goal. Hextall and Arbour were given five minutes in the cooler for mixing during the excitement.

DETROIT REGISTERS SMART 3-1 VICTORY OVER CHICAGO CLUB

Clever Defensive Work and Taking Advantage of Scoring Chances Give Wings Decision—Good-fellow and Looking in Fight—Rangers Beat Amerks—Bruins-Canadiens Tie

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Detroit Red Wings, taking advantage of scoring chances and playing a great defensive game, dealt Chicago Black Hawks their first defeat of the National Hockey League season on home ice, 3-1, tonight before a crowd of 8,500.

The Hawks, who had won six straight at home, outtrushed the Wings most of the way, but could not penetrate a stout defense once Detroit scored.

Detroit scored two goals in the opening period, the first by Syd Howe, with an assist going to Johnny Sorrell, and the other by Red Kelly, assisted by the Kilrea brothers, Hec and Wally.

Paul Thompson, one of the league's leading scorers, punched in the only Hawk goal fifteen seconds after the second Detroit score.

The third Detroit score came in the last minute of play with Herbie Lewis making the tally.

Major penalties were meted out in the third period to Norman Locking, Chicago wingman, and Eddie Goodfellow, big wing defenceman, who engaged in fistfights in front of the Hawk cage. The bout brought every member of both teams onto the ice, but order was quickly restored.

RANGERS DEFEAT AMERKS

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—New York Rangers scored three goals on New York Americans in an overtime period tonight and walked off with a 5-2 decision in a National Hockey League game.

The overtime had just got under way when Bun Cook, being checked by Tommy Anderson, appeared to push him. Anderson then pushed Bun and was banished for two minutes by Referee Bill Bell despite vigorous protest.

With the Americans a man short, the Rangers' scoring machine went into high gear, Frank Boucher scoring twice in less than half a minute. Bun Cook and Brydson fed him the puck as he waited at the mouth of the goal for the first tally, then Brydson passed to him again for the second. Bun Cook was on the scoring end of the third goal after a combination play with Boucher and Brydson.

The Americans had started off fast, Wiseman scoring in the first period and Anderson early in the second to send them away to a comfortable lead. Charley Mason slipped one in for the Rangers in the second period, however, and they drew even on a goal by Dillon after a pretty bit of teamwork with Murdoch and Patrick.

PROMINENT MASON DIES

SEATTLE, Dec. 12 (AP).—Funeral services for John C. Slater, sixty-five, general commodity broker and prominent Northwest Masonic lodge-man, will be held Saturday afternoon. Slater, native of Sacramento, died yesterday after a four-month illness.The insurance office was rung up by a very excited woman."I want to insure my house," she said. "Can I do it over the phone?""I'm afraid not. Perhaps we'd better send a man along.""I've got to do it immediately,"
I tell you," came the frantic voice.

"The place is on fire!"

your vote for the office of constable.I have been in the mule business in Bartlett for many years and am experienced in the work that I am asking the voters for. — Granger

FUNDY FISHINGChase Hake, Cod and Pollock From Feeding Grounds
—Hurt IndustrySAINT JOHN, N.B., Dec. 12 (AP).—
Having practically halted hake, cod and haddock fishing since September 1, record numbers of dogfish continue to drive other fish from their normal feeding grounds on the New Brunswick side of the Bay of Fundy."A certain number of dogfish always come around, but this is the first year I have known them to put an almost complete stop to the bay fishing," said one wholesale fish merchant."The result has been," remarked a retailer, "that I am selling a much greater proportion of Nova Scotia fish than I usually do. I have received practically no fish from local sources lately." He cited the experience of a Beaver Harbor dealer who spent $15 to send two fishermen out. They caught four hickcod, seven hake, one cod and numerous dogfish, and the return to the dealer was $1.12 at the wholesale price.

AFFECT FISHING

"The dogfish have been here since the latter part of July," said the wholesaler. "To a certain extent they have affected fishing adversely on the Nova Scotia side, too, I believe, but not as seriously as along the New Brunswick coast. I recall that on the Nova Scotia shore we used to expect only about three weeks of dogfish—from around the last of July to the middle of August."In previous years attempts were made by the Government to cope with the situation by means of "reduction" plants, where the dogfish could be converted into fertilizer or fish meal, but the enterprise was regarded as unsuccessful.DR. PRICE GIVES

FINANCE - COMMERCE - MARKETS

Security Prices Move Narrowly At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Dec. 12 (AP). — The stock market slipped a cog or two in moderate trading today as mining and scattered industrial losses declined from 1 to 2 or more points.

Analysts explained the drop by pointing to continued confusion surrounding the United States Treasury's silver policy, fresh unrest over peace negotiations abroad and reported liquidation from Europe and England.

Measured by the Associated Press index of sixty stocks, the market closed down 4 of a point at 54.2. Transactions totaled 2,142,960 shares, against 2,143,920 on Wednesday.

The list bumped into brisk selling during the early afternoon and later was somewhat steadier.

The situation in silver apparently prompted a call for gold shares. Oils were in demand throughout the session on reports of some price improvement for gasoline.

The week's statement of the Bank of France was interpreted in banking circles as showing the monetary crisis there had passed at least for the present. The gold loss was far smaller than that of the previous statements.

Trading interest on the bond market was concentrated in obligations of companies in receivership or in process of reorganization.

Profit-taking in Italian bonds caused most of these issues to drop back. Other foreign bonds were a general mixture of gains and losses.

Persistent Selling by Board

Absorbed Without Difficulty at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Dec. 12 (AP). — A strong undertone prevailed on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, wheat prices holding steady to close 1-8 to 3-8 cent lower, December at 83 1/8, May 80 7/8 and July 87 1/8 cents.

Persistent selling attributed to the Canadian Wheat Board was absorbed without difficulty.

The ports of Vancouver, West

Saint John and New York shared in Canadian export business, with an estimated 2,000,000 bushels being sold in the past two days. Today's sales aggregated 500,000 bushels, chiefly to Continental Europe.

Weakness at Liverpool and irregularity at Chicago were almost unnoticed here.

Cash grains spread held about unchanged. Coarse grains prices were quietly firm.

Jane Dixon Says:

WOULDN'T IT BE MARVELOUS IF WE HAD THE STAMINA TO TELL THE TRUTH, NO MATTER HOW PAINFUL?

Why do we say "no" when the answer is "yes"? Convention, habit, a distorted sense of obligation—and we do the thing that is ruinous to us and to those we cheat with our mask.

Wouldn't it be marvelous if we had the stamina to tell the truth, no matter how painful?

Seldom, if ever, is there a time when we are not made to regret bitterly, our inability to make a decision consistent with the truth that is in our hearts.

In an effort to avoid immediate distress for ourselves or others, we stifle truth and so pile up a burden of disappointment, bitterness and sorrow, that we often carry through life.

"Dear Miss Dixon:

"For the past five years a young man and I have been very good friends. Four of these years we just went together occasionally, but the past year we have seen one another regularly.

"About two years ago I entered employment in an office where I came in contact with another young man from time to time. He showed interest in me and about a year ago he asked me if I would go out with him. Feeling it would not be a fair thing to do on account of the other fellow, I refused.

AGREE TO TEST THEIR LOVE

"I have tried very hard to forget the second young man. I can't. The first man and I are not certain that we are really in love, and even though we were, we cannot marry for several years because of existing conditions. Recently we decided that if either of us felt inclined to go out with anyone else we are free to do so, that if we are truly in love this will serve to make us realize it.

"Several weeks ago the man I am unable to forget was transferred to another community, but comes to my city to spend the week-ends in his home. I feel I will never be satisfied until I go out with him and see if I really do care for him as much as I think. He made several attempts to be attentive to me before my regular young man and I made our present agreement, but I discouraged him. I feel certain now that it is up to me to do something about seeing him, as I'm sure he believes I have no interest in him.

—Sincerely,

Answer: Your judgment of fair play to the first young man was very much in error.

The fair thing to have done would have been to accept the attention of the second young man whom you like so much, and to have told Number One what you were doing.

BETTER FRIENDS THAN SWEETHEARTS

Your failure to do so has added a year to your quandary and has benefited no one.

On the contrary. Holding to one man with the image of another in your heart is the greatest possible injustice.

You and the first young man have shown wisdom in deciding to look about and test the quality of your attachment before you pledge yourselves to one another.

I doubt very much that real love exists between you.

You had plenty of time and opportunity to plumb the depth of your affection, and the fact that you are still in doubt is pretty conclusive evidence that you are better friends than ever you will be sweethearts.

It is not the way of true love to be half-hearted.

It is quite proper under the circumstances for you to drop the second young man a note or to see him, renew your friendship, and invite him to call on you.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

TO SPRUCE UP
To spruce up, indicating to take special pains with one's appearance, is an interesting English idiom with a surprising background.

Etymologically, "spruce" is from the Old English "spruce" or "Pruse," meaning Prussia or Prussian.

The spruce was first recognized as a native of Prussia, its sprouts being employed in the brewing of spruce beer.

In addition, the term was subsequently applied to a special type of leather manufactured in Prussia and used in the making of fine attire.

It is in this latter connection that we have the allusion in the current fying, colloquially speaking, "doing application of the expression spruce up."

"Both our sons are studying in Paris. Mine is going in for art; what is yours doing?" "He wants to be a writer." "Indeed. And is he doing anything in that line?" "Yes, quite a lot. He writes for money nearly every week." "I'm then, were pretty much in the same boat. My son, as I said, is going in for art, and regularly draws on me."

Soccer Chatter

By A.F.A.N.

Remarks made by fans as they leave the field after a game are always illuminating and often surprising. On Saturday last, after Victoria United had gained a well-deserved victory at the expense of a clever visiting side from Vancouver, several people made the remark that the better side had lost.

When the cause of St. Saviour's downfall is examined, it is difficult to see how one can say that they had the better side. Having saved the game by virtue of a couple of smart goals which beat our defence so badly, the visitors could not deny our forwards who worried and worried till they were twice rewarded, by a gift goal and once by a good goal.

Our defence, on the other hand, played a brilliant game towards the end of time. De Costa and Gibbons were safe as rocks, while Essler, Boyd, Williams and Joe Crowe were all playing a much sounder game than the visitors' backs and halves. The forward lines being about evenly balanced, our defence was the superior, making ours the better team, and the better team won.

Victoria's fourth goal, the last of the game, furnished an object lesson to all who would profit therefrom. St. Saviour's right back had lost his temper with George Payne, who had blocked the goal's clearance. Morgan had joined in the argument, and quite a few words passed. Meanwhile the game, with the referee chasing it, had rushed off down to the other end of the field, so that the little fracas was unnoticed officially.

But those of us who knew were aware that the Vancouver defence had cracked. We realized that both backs were rattled, that they could no longer think things out coolly, and we expected the next rush to end in a goal. And so it was. Down came John Watt in full possession, but with two backs and a goalie to beat. Both backs cast reason aside and tried to rough it up with our centre, disregarding the fact that he had control of the ball.

John took no notice of their bustling tactics, but went straight as a die and scored the goal that finished the game. A full back, more so than other players, can ill afford to lose control of himself. Had those two defenders played with any sort of system towards the end of the game, that last goal might never have been scored.

The selectors must have been very well satisfied with their choice of centre forward; he had a hand-in all four goals, and he never let the defenders any rest period. He played a remarkably confident game on the right wing, and was certainly greedy for work. The whole forward line worked well together, and will probably not be disturbed by the selection committee.

Murray West, of St. Saviour's, who delighted the fans with his clever display, told me that he had enjoyed the game very much. He also told me that he had had a rough crossing and that the team had spent a very uncomfortable night. It did not seem to have affected their game much.

The fans, and the clubs, are doing a lot of talking these days about the feasibility of regular scheduled Sunday soccer. One feature of the question is emphasized by the fact that last Saturday being an inter-city day, and next Saturday being set aside for a cup-tie, a large number of players get no soccer for two weeks. The argument is that Sunday games would result in every team getting a game every week.

GOLF CLUBS SEEKING SUPPORT OF CHAMBER IN WATER RATES CUT

A request for support and assistance in securing a general reduction in water rates for all golf clubs in the surrounding municipalities was read at a meeting of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, yesterday. The communication was received from the Victoria Golf Club, and pointed out the value of properly kept courses as a tourist attraction.

To secure further information regarding the matter of rates, a committee will be named by President W. T. Straith.

Chamber Finds Sport Fishing Not Suffering

Present regulations controlling commercial fishing are not detrimental to sport fishing, a special committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce reported to a meeting of directors yesterday, and recommended that the chamber not support a resolution against it submitted by the Nanaimo Fish and Game Association. The committee's recommendation was passed unanimously.

The resolution submitted by the Up-Island game association read: "Resolved, that all seining be prohibited within three miles of the east coast of Vancouver Island from the north end of Seymour Narrows south, measurement to be taken from a line from headland to headland."

CLUBMEN ENJOY MUSIC AT LUNCHEON

Rotary Club Hears Musical Programme at Weekly Meeting in Empress Hotel

Orchestral selections, solos, novelty turns and a demonstration of a late combination radio-electrola were heard yesterday at the Rotary Club luncheon in place of the usual weekly addresses. The gathering was held in the Empress Hotel.

Presented under the direction of Frank Sehl, and arranged by Alfred Prescott, the programme was varied, ranging from popular songs to classical renditions.

Miss Nora Jones, contralto, assisted at the piano by Miss Maquinn Daniels, rendered three solos. Sam Winterbottom, an "end man" in the Rotary Minstrel Show last year, offered his feature solo of the production, "Nobody," while Frank Shandley, who also was featured in the show, sang "I Wonder How I Look When I'm Asleep." Mr. Shandley also directed community singing.

John Phillip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes" and a group of selected Christmas carols were presented on the large twenty-two tube Victor "miracle instrument" by Walter Fletcher.

James H. Beatty spoke briefly on the Rotary record of the late I. D. McLean, a former member of the club. Condolences were extended to the family of the deceased.

George I. Warren reminded the members that the Rotary Club was sponsoring tonight's radio appeal programme of the Gyro Christmas Hamper campaign.

SENTENCED TO EIGHT MONTHS

Pat Howard Convicted of Retaining Possession of Goods Stolen

Pat Howard, charged with having in his possession goods, knowing them to have been stolen, was convicted in the County Court here yesterday by Judge A. M. Harper, of Vancouver, and was sentenced to eight months in jail. In passing sentence, His Honor remarked that the youth had not a very good record, and expressed the hope that he would reform and, in order to allow him to do so, he said, he had made the sentence short.

The charge on which the accused was found guilty concerned the theft of cigarettes from the warehouse of W. H. Malkin, December 22, 1934. The Crown was represented by Carew Martin, with F. C. Elliott as counsel for the accused, who pleaded not guilty to the charge. For the Crown, the evidence was largely confined to police evidence of locating the stolen cigarettes in the bushes in the grounds of the Naval Barracks, at Esquimalt, and of having caught the offenders when they arrived to take the goods away. Constable Thomas Stevenson, of the city police, identified the accused and two others, McSwaine and Burns, who are serving prison terms.

NO DEFENCE EVIDENCE

No evidence was offered for the defence. Mr. Elliott opposed the conviction on technical points. He argued there was no proof of theft, and no proof of the accused being in possession.

He also pointed out that, when discovered, the goods had passed into possession of the police. The only charge that might be laid against the accused was theft of the goods from the police.

With no proof of the goods being stolen, of possession by the accused, or of knowledge that they had been stolen goods, the accused was entitled to acquittal, he contended.

Mr. Martin took the position that it was incumbent upon one having possession of stolen goods to establish where they came from.

Mr. Elliott maintained that Mr. Martin had offended on a point similar to that which caused a mistrial before Judge Lampman, when Crown counsel held it was a duty on the accused to prove where the goods came from and his innocence on that point. The objection was overruled by Judge Harper, who said that he was convinced the goods were stolen, that the accused was in possession, and that he had guilty knowledge.

Delays Sentence For Shoplifters

When Sadie Orr and Patsy Miller, through their counsel, P. J. Sinnott, yesterday pleaded guilty in the city police court to a sixth charge of retaining possession of stolen goods, Magistrate Jay postponed passing sentence until tomorrow.

The latest charge to which they pleaded guilty was of having possession of gloves taken from the store of David Spencer, Ltd.

The attention of the court was called to the previous records of the two, Patsy Miller having six previous convictions. Sadie Orr had only one previous conviction.
